To the class of 1954--I congratulate you. You have realized one of the ambitions of your life. However, this is not the ending; this is only the beginning. I hope that you will remember that your graduation was achieved by effort and by determination. Your ability and your determination will carry you as far up the ladder of success as you wish to go. Also, remember, and be thankful to your parents, who have made many sacrifices for you so that you might be enjoying this day to the fullest. So, to the class of 1954--our prayers and hopes go with you.

*With best wishes
W. B. Betts*

Because we are grateful to you for....

Willingness to help without reward,

Being patient, which we often did not deserve,

Becoming our true friend and guide,

Endeavoring to guide us, without dominating us,

Time given generously,

Taking our troubles and finding the right solution,

Somehow, making us believe in ourselves,

We, the class of 1954, dedicate to you....

Class

PREFACE

The story we are about to this book may not be too as it marks the four years Class of '54.

History

tell in the four chapters of lengthy but it is important, we spent at Lisbon as the

Chapter I - Freshmen

As happy-go-lucky Freshmen, fifty in number, we invaded the halls of Lisbon High in September, 1950, under the supervision of Mr. Rishel and Mr. Betts as our homeroom teachers. We were very happy to hear that Mr. Betts was to be married in December. Girls are made of sugar and spice and everything nice; what fun it was to see what frogs were made of. Mr. and Mrs. Betts and Mr. and Mrs. Rishel accompanied us to Gettysburg on our class trip.

Chapter II - Sophomores

We came back from our summer vacation with a new sense of purpose, as Sophomores. We whole-heartedly plunged ourselves into the Magazine Campaign and emerged as the highest selling homeroom in the school. The Sophomore Class was invited to go on a county wide Conservation Tour which was enjoyable. We sponsored a square dance in order to raise funds for the Farewell Party we gave the Seniors.

Chapter III - Juniors

As we returned for our Junior year, our thoughts were on many things, mainly, securing our Senior Class rings and presenting a play in order to raise money for our Senior Yearbook. We were again the highest selling homeroom in the magazine campaign, with Shirley Lewis winning the individual salesmanship honor. We sponsored a Halloween dance which was very successful and at which everyone had a good time. For our class trip we visited many famous places in Washington, such as the F.B.I. Building and the Capitol. Near the close of our Junior year our interests centered mainly on the Prom we gave the Seniors. Everyone agreed afterwards that it was one of the best proms ever given at Lisbon.

Chapter IV - Seniors

We returned to the familiar halls of Lisbon for our Senior year with a renewed desire to excel in all activities that we participated in. Once again we were the highest homeroom in the magazine campaign, with Paul Ridgley winning individual high salesmanship honors this year. We were happy to have Mr. Betts as our homeroom teacher for the fourth consecutive year. We started our record dances and bake sales in the latter part of September and, with the exception of basketball season, continued them throughout the year. We also gave a barn dance and Christmas dance which were moderately successful. We ordered our name cards and announcements, and had our Senior Yearbook pictures taken early in the year to avoid a rush at the last minute. Since we had such a large class we decided that the best way to edit our Yearbook would be to elect several small committees which would represent the class.

Our class was invited to the U. of M. for a luncheon and to see the football game between Maryland and Washington and Lee, which we enjoyed very much. We had many laughs from our play, DESPERATE AMBROSE. Our many and sincere thanks to our directors, Mr. and Mrs. Betts, who worked diligently to make it a success. The Junior-Senior Prom was far beyond our expectations.

Class Night and Baccalaureate passed swiftly. At last, Graduation, that long anticipated time when we would receive our diplomas.

The world will little note nor long remember what we have written here. Few will even read it.

Class Prophecy

Listen, my friends, and you will hear
The prophecy of our Senior year.

If you're looking for a carpenter when your house is falling down,
You musn't forget our Eddie; he's the best in this whole town.

Studying agriculture at Maryland U.
Is Louis Arrington, and he'll like it too.

Now look at Margy - as a stenographer,
A real good picture for a photographer.

Taking temperatures, carrying trays,
As a nurse Joyce will be helpful in millions of ways.

Edith Gray swears she will not marry
Until she has succeeded as a fine secretary.

Raymond Glenn in the Air Force will go;
We know he'll climb and not so slow.

Norma is sleeping and off for the day.
I wonder why? Of course, the boss is away!

Home from the fields on the dot of eight
Comes Dick, running to get ready for that heavy date.

Sue Bowman does her work so well
She'll make a good secretary, that we can tell.

At the stock car races, down on the track
The number one racer will be our boy Jack.

Joan Britton is Washington bound;
In the F.B.I. she'll soon be found.

Do you know Eileen? Have you ever met her?
As a secretary there'll be none better.

Jeanette's smile will help her win
Whatever job she chooses to begin.

Marlene Butler is so generous and kind
A life of happiness she'll someday find.

Mixing mortar and slapping on brick,
Richard Cecil will make them stick.

Mechanics has been chosen as Marshall's profession;
An engineer is not in question.

From town to town Carl will go
To find a job that suits him just so.

On Bobby Hood's farm there may have been some flops
But soon he'll raise all blue ribbon crops.

Wayne Hough plans to go to college
To get a degree and lots of knowledge.

Up above you high in the sky
There goes Mervin learning to fly.

As a private secretary, you will find
Shirley Lewis is always on time.

A mechanic Robert will be, strong and great;
At a garage he will work early and late.

Happily George will work and toil
As becomes a tiller of the soil.

Now we're bound to stay out of war
With Bill Newcomer a "big shot" in the Army Air Corps.

Shirley Peters should be a fine wife,
Quite skillful with rolling pin and knife.

Tending and reaping the fields so green
From morn until night, Calvin will be seen.

Kermit Pridemore, happy and gay,
Will find that farming is work, not play.

Paul Ridgley after many courses
Will be Commander-in-Chief of the Air Forces.

Ann Rippeon, who ignores comments or flattery,
Will bake, cook vegetables, and put meat on the plattery.

Rippeon a farmer is sure to be,
A very prosperous one - just you wait and see.

In from the fields, tools put away,
Francis' work is finished for the day.

Home from college and full of fun
Here comes Jane through town on the run.

Fairey isn't sure of what she wants to be
But she'll be a success - just you wait and see.

Bill is working early and late
Plowing furrows in a figure eight.

Meindert will sweat and toil
At the U. of M. to learn about soil.

Claude Taylor will find that sawing lumber
Will leave him little time for slumber.

Dorothy Walker will be a secretary;
The work of a handsome boss she hopes to carry.

Jack Wolsh will soon be sailing the sea
In the Navy, where he wants to be.

Last Will and Testament

The Senior Class of Lisbon High School hereby bequeaths these worldly possessions to those groups and individuals having the greatest need of them.

Louis Arrington's determination to Virginia Slagle.
Dick Baker's hook shots to Eddie Christian.
Sue Bowman's cuteness to Mary Jane Hipsley.
Jack Branch's stock car to Stanley Mertz.
Joan Britton's waist line to Martha Mullinix.
Eddie Brown's cooperation to Chris Taylor.
Eileen Burke's engagement ring to Gail Clark.
Jeanette Burns' athletic ability to Betty Lou Burdette.
Richard Cecil's basketball uniform to William Flynn.
Marlene Butler's ability to let men alone to Dorothy White.
Marshall Fleming's dancing ability to Ray Albaugh.
Carl Gibson's frightening experiments in chemistry to Gail Pond.
Edith Gray's coyness to Mary Frances Hardy.
Raymond Glenn's forensic accomplishments to Shirley Taylor.
Marjorie Hardy's fear of mice to Nellie Leatherwood.
Joyce Helton's ability to drive on the right side of the road to Rose Warfield.
Bob Hood's jitterbugging technique to Lambert Cissel.
Wayne Hough's height to Jimmy Hill.
Mervin Lee's carefree manner to David Johnson.
Shirley Lewis' hot trumpet to Jimmy Patrick.
Bob Musgrove's sense of balance to Larry Esworthy.
George Myers' shoulder-strap pocketbook to Kenny Cecil.
Bill Newcomer's hitch-hiking thumb to Edwin Justice.
Shirley Peters' gum chewing to Loretta Shipley.
Calvin Pickett's black boots to Walter Dennison.
Kermit Pridemore's personality to Robert Mullinix.
Paul Ridgley's love for Fords to Wanda Helton.
Norma Riley's brains to Donald Cope.
Ann Rippeon's size to Laura Haven.
Stanley Rippeon's height and size to Clifford Richardson.
Francis Saunders' quietness to Sandra Larrick.
Jane Shirk's loyalty to the Maryland Terrapins to Glen Gray.
Fairey Simms' vocabulary to Doris Fleming.
Bill Streaker's love for horses to Dewey Hopkins.
Meindert Sweeps' talkative manner to Jane Bowman.
Claude Taylor's "Romeo" ability to Robert Esworthy.
Dorothy Walker's size to Mary Jean Turney.
Jack Wolsh's bass voice to Ann Arney.
To the Cafeteria staff, more soup.
To the teachers, six aspirin each and retirement for life.
To the janitors, more sleep.
To Doris Pickett, no more work on any yearbook.
To the lower classmen, sympathy.
To Mr. Wolf, a less bothersome Senior Class.
